The Pervert's Guide to Cinema (no cert)

That title's quite the come-on: only the film theory is hardcore in this illustrated lecture, as psychoanalyst/philosopher Slavoj Žižek ponders how the movies pander to all our desires. Crazy-eyed Freudian Žižek plays Fort/Da games with the audience: every time his speculations venture too far out, close textual attention to everything from Duck Soup (1933) to Fight Club (1999) reels us back in. He even has theories on flushing toilets, and why watching films 'is sometimes like watching shit'. There are no clips from the execrable Little Man, but even here, you know exactly what he means.
